BODY OF BABY IS CREMATED

Gigantic Campaign Of Police Agencies To Capture Baby Slayer Under Way

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 14.—Aroused by demands of an inflamed country and quickened by revelations of two intermediaries in the shocking Lindbergh baby kidnapping, the nation's vast law enforcement agencies today promised swift justice for the perpetrators of the century's most revolting crime.

Even while the bereaved father stood stoically at the cremation in London, N. J., the body of his infant son found dead 72 days after he was kidnapped, John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., negotiator, led a force of New Jersey detectives to a point in southern Jersey where he made his second contact with the supposed abductors.

Believe Ransom Paid to Kidnapers.

Through him, and through Dr. John F. Condon, aged Poughkeepsie lecturer and one of the chief Lindbergh emissaries, police were led to believe the men who obtained $50,000 ransom from Lindbergh, bartering false hopes for profits, where the kidnapers who slew the sunny-haired Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., a short while after.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Work is being completed this week on the park project across from the Jameson Memorial hospital. Many people believe that the location would be an ideal one for several municipal tennis courts. It would give the nurses at the hospital a splendid place for a little relaxation, while many others in the neighborhood could avail themselves of the opportunity to use the courts. Members of council might take cognizance of this fact.

A local blind man is very appreciative of the courtesy shown him by a North Hill street car motorman. The motorman, George Melton, assisted the blind man to safety from the street car, Pa. News is told.

The business office of the New Castle News was prettily decorated today with many beautiful tulips in shades of red, yellow and orchid, which were a gift from Harold K. Baer, 11 East Wallace avenue. The flowers came from his garden on the Pulaski road, and at the present time this tulip farm presents a beautiful appearance with its thousands of blooms. Mr. Baer says all visitors are welcome to view his display at his home on East Wallace avenue or at the farm.

The Scout Leaders' club of New Castle, holding an outdoor meeting at New Bedford, certainly tempted fate—it was Friday the 13th. Well, it must have been because they had an assistant weather observer, Gordon Cartwright, with them. He seemed to have the Indian sign with him.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:

Maximum temperature, 70.
Minimum temperature, 48.
Precipitation, 0.2 inches.
River stage 7.7 feet, falling.

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:

Maximum temperature, 58.
Minimum temperature, 43.
Precipitation, .78 inches.

Panorama Of Scene Of Lindbergh Baby Tragedy

This airplane view of the countryside surrounding the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell, N. J., shows the relative distance between the spot where Baby Charles Lindbergh was found and the house from which he was kidnapped. While the search spread over the nation the body of the child lay on Mt. Rose hill, indicated by arrow on the right, just a few miles from the Lindbergh home, arrow left. The cluster of houses between the two arrows is the village of Hopewell.

State G. O. P. Delegates In Preliminary Caucus Sidestep Prohibition

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The prohibition issue will be side-stepped by Pennsylvania's 75 delegates to the Republican National Convention if an effort is made in the preliminary caucus here today to adopt a resolution calling for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, modification of the Volstead Act or a popular referendum to determine the will of the people.

It was decided at a conference of party leaders that the caucus of the delegates is primarily for the purpose of effecting an organization and that question of policy will be deferred until a meeting in Chicago on the eve of the opening of the convention.

Although the delegates were elected as uninstructed, it is believed they will make some sympathetic gesture toward the renomination of President Hoover.

Reed To Be Chosen

Senator David A. Reed will be chosen as the state's representative on the resolutions committee which will draft the platform and submit it to the convention for ratification, according to well-founded reports.

Because of the delegates' belief that prohibition is too serious a matter to be settled in one sitting, the possibility exists that when Senator Davis' campaign manager, Joseph N. Mackerell, of Pittsburgh, offers his resolution demanding a referendum on the liquor question, it will be referred to a committee for action.

William S. Vare, leader of the Philadelphia organization, is slated for chairman of the delegation. Four years ago he sat on the resolutions committee in the Kansas City convention and put up a hard fight for a wet plank.

Vare May Not Attend

General Edward Martin, chairman of the state committee, according to all indications, will be chosen vice chairman of the delegation. There is a possibility that Vare, on account of illness, may not attend the convention. This automatically would make Martin head of the delegation.

When the state committee meets for reorganization, General Martin will be re-elected as chairman. Indications are that all other officers (Continued on Page Two)

Big Police Raids Made In Canton

CANTON, O., May 14.—Within 48 hours after Mayor C. C. Curtis handed down an executive order, instructing Police Chief Earl W. Hexamer to clean up vice conditions in Canton or face removal, 21 women, all charged with living in disorderly houses, were taken into custody.

It was the largest roundup in years here.

All of those arrested provided bond of $100 each.

Lindberghs May Decide To Make Stay Abroad For Peace And Quiet

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 14.—Flight from the country of little Charlie Lindbergh's birth and death is being considered seriously by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh now.

For weeks they have been turning over in their minds the proposal to escape into the comparative anonymity of a foreign land before the birth of the child who was to have been Lindbergh Jr.'s playmate. Only the possibility of finding the missing baby kept them from planning definitely on this trip.

And now that they know the fate of their first-born, they have nothing to keep them here.

Offered Chateau

Friends are urging them to go, it was learned today. Not only is it felt that the change of scene would be beneficial for Mrs. Lindbergh, but the less persistent publicity practices of European journalism are thought to offer definite advantage.

CHISEL AND NOTE FOUND ON ROOF

Police Take Up Immediate Man Hunt For Would-Be Abductor Of Tot

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—The would-be kidnapers of 10-month-old Betty Ann Anthony, daughter of James L. Anthony, wealthy manufacturer, were hunted today after a nurse's scream frightened them away from the infant's room.

While the baby's parents were away at the theater last night the infant's nurse, Miss Della Field, heard a noise on the roof outside the nursery. Rushing into the room, she saw a man on the roof and screamed.

Chisel, Note Found

The man fled. Police later searched the roof and found a chisel and envelope which contained a note reading: "Ransom one hundred thousand dollars."

Every available police officer was mobilized to hunt for the would-be abductors.

Report Hold-Up At Gas Station

Two Men Rob Hyde Service Station On North Jefferson Street

Hyde Service Station, 33 North Jefferson street, was the scene of a holdup shortly before two o'clock this morning, the attendant, Raymond Pander, being held up at the point of a gun and the days receipts taken from the cash drawer of the place. Two men participated in the hold-up, one having a gun. They secured a considerable amount of money. They are believed to have had a car in which they made their getaway after the holdup.

Police were called immediately, receiving the call at 1:50 a. m. Officers Dukes, Criswell and Alliger answered the call, but found no trace of the holdup men.

The holdup men came from the rear, evidently having climbed the high fence at the rear of the station. They asked Pander if he had a can in which they could get a gallon of gasoline.

He answered affirmatively and went out to get a can. On his return, the taller of the two men pulled a gun on Pander and searched him, but secured no money on his person. The money from the cash drawer was then taken. The robbers left over the rear fence. Pander thought he heard a car start to the rear of the fence after their departure.

Pander describes the holdup men as follows: No. 1, 25 years of age, tall and wearing dark suit and light hat; No. 2, 25 years of age, short, wearing dark suit and light hat.

Friends here will be pleased to learn that Lawrence Kehna who has been undergoing treatment in the Philadelphia Naval Hospital for the past ten weeks, has been removed to his home on Scott street, and is reported as getting along nicely. He is affiliated with the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company.

Kline-Succop Found Guilty As Accused

Mayor Kline And Former Supplies Director Found Guilty In Butler Court

JURY ASKS THAT MERCY BE SHOWN

Counsel For Defendants Immediately Move For New Trial; Jury Out Many Hours

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., May 14.—Mayor Charles H. Kline of Pittsburgh, dubbed politically "Bread and Butter Charlie", and Bertram L. Succop, his ousted director of supplies, were found guilty of malfeasance charges today.

The charges were the outgrowth of a grand jury probe of the awarding of bids to other than low bidders for city supplies. The trial was ordered held in Butler county by the State Supreme Court on a change of venue plea of the defendants.

Stays In Office

Today's findings would have removed the mayor from office automatically had not a new trial motion been made.

The prosecution finally brought the case to trial here following alleged attempts to tamper with the March jury panel which resulted in the indictment of eight persons.

Counsel for both defendants immediately moved for a new trial. Judge Thomas D. Finletter, of Philadelphia, granted permission for counsel to file reasons as a basis for the new trial motion within thirty days.

In its findings, the jury recommended the lightest possible sentence in both cases.

Mayor Kline was not in the courtroom when the jury filed in with the verdict. Succop flushed, then paled, as the verdict was read amid a shocked silence in the little courtroom.

Legal authorities said that despite the guilty verdict the mayor would not be automatically removed from office until a judgment is entered against him in the court records. The new trial motion serves as a stay of judgment.

A peculiar angle was injected when the jury learned they had forgotten to vote on one individual count against Succop relating to grocery purchases from the Marcus Company. The jury again retired to deliberate on this point.

Judge Finletter praised the jury for their work. He remarked: "Ladies and gentlemen of the jury your tedious task is finished. I have sympathized with you for your hardships and the prolonged study and anxious care which you have given to this case in the jury room is worthy of praise."

A defense motion for an arrest of judgment also was made. Court ruled that arguments on this motion would be heard within an hour.

Austria Asks Aid Of League

League Of Nations Appealed To For Financial Aid

(BULLETIN)

GENEVA, May 14.—An appeal from Austria to the League of Nations for immediate financial aid was received today.

The appeal was in a letter from Dr. Otto Buresch, Austrian chancellor, in which he declared Austria would be unable to maintain her foreign exchange without immediate credits.

"Imports which are essential to the life of the Austrian people must cease unless aid is forthcoming immediately," Dr. Buresch wrote.

The League council is expected to take up the appeal next Thursday.

Budget Committee Will Make Reply For School Board

Sometime before the next meeting of the New Castle School Board, the Budget Committee of the board, consisting of Roy W. Hazen, W. W. Duff and Mrs. John E. Halliwell, will frame a reply to the statement of the Citizens' Committee that appeared before the board last Wednesday night.

This committee consisting of George Morris, J. Elder, A. T. Jennings and Leonard W. Cramer presented a suggested solution of the budget difficulties and the committee of the board named by Acting President J. Herbert McIlvenny will study the suggestion and make reply.

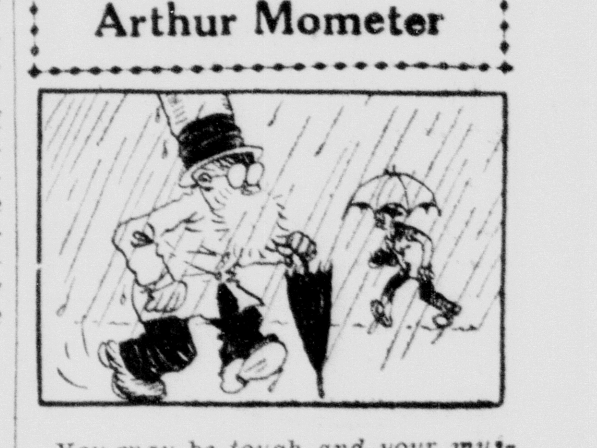

McKEOWN TO HEAD WHOLESALE CREDIT GROUP DURING YEAR

W. C. McKeown, Pennsylvania Power company man, is the new president of the New Castle Association of Wholesale Credit Men, it was learned, following its organization meeting in The Castleton.

The association named Attorney R. A. Cooper as secretary-treasurer and Fred C. Duff, Joel S. McKee and James L. McMillan as directors for two-year terms.

After electing its new officers, the association adjourned for the vacation period. The next meeting will occur in September.

Mrs. Mary Duncan, of R. D. 2, New Castle, has been discharged from the Jameson Memorial hospital.

You may be tough and your muscles hard, and your biceps like ribbons of steel, you may believe you are iron itself, fatigue you may never feel, but get yourself in a garden spot, and handle a hoe and rake, and tough as you are and as hard as you are, those muscles are bound to ache. For that exercise stretches hip and thigh and your back seems to be in two, and you'll have some blisters athwart your hands, before you are half way through. Don't think you're tough till you garden some, it's something different than play, for it knots your arms and it knicks your legs, it's starchy seven to-day.

PLAN HUGE REWARD TO GET BABY KILLERS

Various Plans Are Suggested

Popular Subscription Idea Is Projected From Mid-West

GOVERNOR MOORE CONSIDERS PLAN

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia., May 14.—A movement was under way here today to raise, by country-wide popular subscription, a gigantic reward for the person who first furnishes information leading to the arrest and conviction of the kidnappers and slayers of the Lindbergh baby.

The plan was suggested to the Des Moines Register by Eugene McGuire of Des Moines.

The paper intimated it would sponsor such a drive if it were given encouragement locally.

Trenton, N. J., May 15.—A reward for capture of the Lindbergh baby's slayer, sufficiently large that he will be hunted down relentlessly the world over, is favored by Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, the state's chief executive indicated today.

Governor Moore announced he would discuss the question of a reward on Monday at a conference with Attorney General William A. Stevens and Erwin E. Marshall and Anthony M. Hauck Jr., prosecutors of Mercer and Hunterdon counties respectively.

ages. Were the new baby to be taken in the same house, with the same widespread publicity as Charles Jr., it is thought Mrs. Lindbergh would be overcome with nervous worry and painful remembrance.

Some days ago International News Service reported the invitation of a friend of the late Dr. W. Morrow, who wanted to turn over his chateau in the Pyrenees to the ill-fated couple. At that time it was said the Lindberghs were considering the offer, but were loath to leave without real knowledge of their son's whereabouts.

Many Invitations
Today an intimate friend of the family said that many other invitations have been received from practically every country of Western Europe, proffering peace, solitude and quiet. These things both Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh need. Neither has cracked under the strain of the cruellest tragedy of these modern times. But both are the sort who would keep their balance to bitter end. Their families hesitate to let them tested too far.

The Lindbergh baby, now reduced to a handful of ashes, will have a strictly private burial some time in the future, it was learned.

The funeral most likely will not take place until several days have passed, possibly even several weeks. There is no rush about that. The ashes will be put to rest in the family plot, as yet to be purchased. It is believed this will be in Brookside Cemetery, Englewood, N. J., where rests the baby's famous grandfather, Dwight W. Morrow.

Funeral Postponed

Dwight W. Morrow, Jr., brother of Mrs. Lindbergh, who came down from Amherst yesterday, returned to college last night, when it was decided to postpone funeral plans indefinitely.

Miss Constance Morrow, who is a student at Smith, where Mrs. Lindbergh and her mother, both, were graduated, is in Englewood.

Mrs. Lindbergh has by her side here, in addition to her husband, her mother and her elder sister, Miss Elizabeth Morrow.

Reports that her health was endangered, together with that of her unborn child, were called foundationless today. It was pointed out that Young Morrow, her brother, would not have been permitted to leave for college if there had been the slightest possibility of danger to Mrs. Lindbergh.

No Resentment
A steady stream of visitors has come to the Morrow home in Englewood, where a private telephone connection has been set up with the house in Hopewell.

No resentment at the two and one half month failure of police to discover the baby's body has been expressed by any member of the Lindbergh or Morrow families, it was understood. Grief at the passing of the baby supercedes every other emotion.

As one friend put it: "We all feel it was a privilege to have had that darling baby in the house for as long as we had him; that is all."

Small Boy Runs Into Automobile Of William Icc

Youth Escapes Serious Injury In Accident On Sycamore Way

William Howard Icc, of 210 Boyles avenue, was driving the car of Sycamore Way in the rear of the New Castle Hardware Company room, East Washington street, when a small boy named Marco Alberico, aged 8, of 22 West Lawrence street, ran into the left side of his machine, striking the left rear fender. He was not knocked but did fall to the street, as a result of the impact with the car.

The boy got up himself and was taken to the office of a physician. The physician was not in and as the boy did not want to go to a doctor, he was then removed to his home. He was apparently uninjured.

Mrs. Goldie Reardon, 119 North Mill street, had her car parked on East Washington street, in front of the Third U. P. Church last night, when a car going west collided with her machine but kept on going. A stranger gave chase and secured the number of the machine, which was turned over to the police and was found to be listed in the name of Marie McConahy, R. D. No. 1. Later in the evening, Officers M. J. Young and D. J. Thomas were on the East Side on another call and happened upon the McConahy car and gave chase, finally stopping it and apprehending the owner, near Cascade Park. McConahy was finally discharged after arranging to pay for the damage done to the Reardon car.

Several new cases of contagion today were reported to the city bureau of health, among them being a case of erysipelas, the patient being Maurice Triplett, 812 West Grant street.

NATION'S GREATEST MAN HUNT IS NOW IN PROGRESS

guard. At the very hour the Lindbergh child was found dead five miles from Hopewell, N. J., Curtis and the baby's father, Colonel Chas. A. Lindbergh, were at sea off the Jersey coast trying to communicate with this vessel.

While the search at sea proceeded the police were also continuing their investigation on land, seeking new clues in the desolate region surrounding the Lindbergh home at Hopewell and again going over the ground in the Bronx, New York City, where Dr. John F. Condon, known as "Jafie", another intermediary, was duped into paying the $50,000 ransom.

Curtis on Mystery Errand.
Curtis, accompanied by detectives, remained away this morning on a mysterious errand. After consulting with the authorities at Hopewell yesterday, telling them all about the negotiations he and Colonel Lindbergh had with the men on the boat, Curtis left for the New Jersey coast line in the vicinity of Cape May.

Presumably Curtis was directing the authorities to the scene where the vessel used by the kidnappers was last seen. He is reported to have named the craft, describing it in detail, and also to have named one of the men aboard it and described the others.

What Curtis has told leads the authorities to believe that he was dealing with the same heartless gang who hoodwinked Dr. Condon out of the $50,000 which "Jafie" threw out of an iron grating to an unidentified man in a Bronx cemetery more than six weeks ago on the promise that the baby would be safely returned "to his mother's arms."

Curtis is understood to have been shown $15,000 worth of the marked "Jafie" money. He was told with sinister emphasis that "the 50 grand was taken by a double crosser in our crowd whom we've taken care of." Curtis firmly believed he was dealing with the kidnappers and apparently so did Colonel Lindbergh.

Gang After Greater Loot.
The authorities, after listening to the stories of Curtis and Dr. Condon, the two principal intermediaries, were convinced that the men whom "Jafie" named had, after getting the $50,000 from Condon, turned to Curtis and were attempting to snare $200,000 more through Curtis when the baby was found.

The theory was lent credence by the fact that the Norfolk negotiations were prolonged, stretching over weeks, and that Colonel Lindbergh during the final days of these negotiations was in the almost constant company of Curtis. It was reported that Lindbergh was preparing to write a check for the kidnappers when news came that the baby was found—dead.

Lindbergh, having been heartlessly mulcted out of $50,000 on a promise that was not fulfilled, naturally proceeded slowly when the kidnappers held forth their second bait. Then, too, the kidnappers were not talking $50,000 this time. Emboldened by the success of their first ruse to obtain ransom they placed the second figure four times as high.

It is reported that Colonel Lindbergh's message to them was "not one cent until the baby is in my arms." The callous kidnappers are understood to have nonchalantly replied: "O. K." and thus the negotiations dragged on.

Curtis is understood to have furnished the authorities the name of the skipper of the kidnappers' boat, although he believed the skipper to be an innocent victim who has been forced to do the gang's bidding. Curtis said the skipper's hair actually turned white during the weeks of negotiations.

Spared Ordeal.
She was spared the ordeal of seeing the shrunken body of her son, found Thursday not five miles from the estate, lying in a shallow grave. But Col. Lindbergh, seized with a thin but insistent hope some mistake might have been made, motored to the morgue in Trenton to make certain beyond the world's most famous baby the slain child was his son.

He examined the baby's teeth, the wisps of blonde hair, the peculiarly overlapping toes.

"Are you satisfied the body is that of your child?" Prosecutor Marshall asked him.

"I am perfectly satisfied that is my child," Lindbergh, haggard but composed, replied.

Baby is Cremated.
For a while he wandered around, then sat on a bench, his head bowed, as the infant's body was placed in a tiny oak casket bound with shiny metal.

A hearse, followed by the lone car containing the "Lone Eagle" slowly moved through the crowd that gathered outside the morgue, taking the body of the world's most famous baby to the crematory in Linden.

Lindbergh, Col. Schwarzkopf and Col. Henry Breckenridge, friend and adviser of Lindbergh, went inside, all outsiders being barred during the cremation.

The ashes will be kept in an urn until the burial.

Attorney General Stevens said: "The possibility must not be overlooked that the child was killed accidentally. The ladder used by the kidnappers was broken, it will be recalled. It may well have been that the ladder broke under the weight of the kidnapper and the child and that the baby's skull was fractured in the fall."

Search At Sea.
Search for the kidnaper-murderers of the Lindbergh baby reached out to sea today as 25 coast guard cutters swept the ocean from the shores of Cape May, N. J., to Boston on important clues given to the authorities by John Hughes Curtis, leader of Norfolk, Va., intermediaries.

Curtis, indignant over the hoax played upon him, told all to the police concerning his dealings with the kidnappers, even to the extent, it is understood, of naming at least one supposed culprit.

The vessel believed to have been used as a "plane" by the baby killers and extortionists was the object of the intensive chase by the coast

Party chieftains are of the opinion that the caucus will be a harmony affair. The question of prohibition stood out as the only proposition likely to precipitate a discussion. This, it was indicated, has been forestalled by deciding to defer action until reaching the convention city.
At a preliminary meeting yesterday, it was said a number of delegates from interior counties served notice they would oppose any move intended to advocate adoption of a wet plank for the convention.

Dr. John Earley
Tells Importance
Of 6-Year Molar

There has been nothing written for public print on the subject of the natural eruption of children's teeth which vitally concerns their health and happiness, and their future welfare if not their very life.

The six year molar, as the heading of this article would indicate, is the very keystone of the dental arch which holds all the teeth in position and does not allow a distortion of the arch such as receding chin and malocclusion of the whole denture, and after being removed their masticating surface is out of place for all time.

The parents invariably say, "This is not a second tooth", which is very true. They never get a second tooth in its place as it is the permanent one never to be replaced. This we see every day, and why? The parents do not know that this condition may be cared for with very little cost and no pain if taken in time. We are paying school dentists. And there are all kinds of charitable institutions in the country to prevent disease and for the cure of same. Then why neglect one of the most potent factors for the well-being of the child when a need like this could be taken care of by educating parents a little along these lines through the public press.

Respectfully,
DR. JOHN EARLEY.

RURAL CRIME

PEOPLE usually think of crime as an especial affliction of the large cities and as a rarity in the rural community—a delusion which may be laid to the door of the metropolitan newspaper with its tendency to dramatize crime.

In New York state the rural sections have twice as many homicides as New York City in relation to other offenses. So far as murder is concerned one is safer in cities of more than 40,000 population. Rape and arson are 1 per cent and burglary 12 per cent more prevalent in rural New York than in the state's great metropolis, in proportion to population.

Automobile stealing increases as the density of population increases, but felonies of the more serious sort are surprisingly common in rural communities and small towns.

Similar studies in other states probably would lead to the same results. Chicago's cities statistics show that rural Illinois is also crime-ridden. The country's highest homicide rates are to be found in the South where there are few really large cities.

This condition is not surprising. Rural police are poorly organized and few in number, leaving citizens virtually at the mercy of the underworld. It was in recognition of this situation that state police were organized in a number of states.

GOOD OLD, BAD OLD, TIMES

Tomorrow is usually a little further off than yesterday. Both, however, are removed from current discussion and both have a perspective which in some ways shows them up in more nearly their true relations and in some other ways distorts the view and makes them look grotesque. And yet the yesterdays were once the present pulsing and important and imperative in demand. Tomorrow, too, will be just the plain present one of these days. And they are all alike more or less in the essential elements that compose the conditions of any period.

There are dreamers who continually are visioning the brighter day ahead, crystallizing it in not the millennium that is to be the acme of perfect conditions—certainly in a moral way and probably in a physical and economic and industrial way. And the dreamers have always to announce from advancing time to time a postponement, more or less indefinite, of the glad and perfect day with all the wrongs will be righted.

So, too, there are retrospective dreamers, forever living in the past and investing the sacred departed days with a glamor and glory that was never quite justified by the facts in the time when these past times were prosaic and practical present. These reminiscence experts harp grandiloquently upon the "good old days," and deplore the decadence of the new—the deterioration of the manners and morals of the day in which we live and with which, after all, alone we have anything really to do.

It doesn't require an enthusiast or an optimist of the professionally obsessed variety to find the actual facts of the record and learn that the "good old days" were not a bit better than the todays we live through and wrestle with and glory in. Manners were not any better in the time of G. Washington than they are now—for the first gentleman of the land in writing some aphorisms upon the subject of common etiquette, advised his supposedly cavalierish readers to refrain from spitting upon the floors and into the corners of the rooms of polite homes.

Manners of the people as a whole today are better, gentler, more courteous, more unselfish than they were in those "hazy, daisy, lazy good old days." And if there are crime waves that spread over the front pages of the papers these days now and then the general moral conditions in this and in practically every other country are better today in the main than in those gracefully correct days to which the grouches and growlers are harking back forever by comparison and contrast.

There are more people now than in the less populous days of the century ago and there are more papers and quicker communication and more thorough publicity of the remissnesses and delinquencies of the more people now than when Ben Franklin started his little gazetteer in the eighteen hundred and something year. If you will back some old timer squarely up against the facts as his serious and honest memory recalls them you will find that New Castle was as bad a quarter of a century ago as now—and worse in many respects; so was the country at large.

The moral standard has been raised with the passing years and the world is better than it was anywhere and anyhow in those "halcyon times of the good old days."

EVERYONE HAS A STAKE

If communism is community ownership of property, then the United States has found the secret of practical communism. Its way is the true community control.

The American way is widespread distribution of corporate ownership. Just how many individual stockholders there are in the United States no one knows, but they must represent a large percentage of the adult population.

On the "big board" in Wall Street 1,269 issues are listed, while on "The Curb" and in the list of stocks that are sold over the counter are hundreds of other securities. The aggregate number of shares outstanding runs into millions upon millions, and their holders must run into many millions.

By actual count 26 leading corporations have a total of 2,497,501 stockholders. If one out of every 49 persons in the United States is financially interested in the welfare of these 26 companies, the proportion owning the stocks and bonds of the thousands of corporations must be remarkably large. Certainly the same 2 per cent who own the stock of the 26 concerns surveyed do not control the millions of other shares and bonds.

This condition of corporate affairs means that big and little corporations not only provide work and serve the masses but share with them their profits. The rich hold no monopoly of the dividend check in America.

If the police really want the fingerprints of children for identification purposes, any mother can provide them with an endless supply.

If the veterans get everything they ask for, regardless of the extent of their service, there will be a rush to get into the next war.

We Stand By a Door
Getting Our "Second Wind"
Going Without Sleep

By MARSHALL MASLIN

We cannot see that door, but it is there. The door beyond our ordinary powers, the door within ourselves, the door we do not open as often as we should.

We stand before the door weary and despairing and unhappy and do not open it. Forgetting that beyond that door is more strength, more serenity, more wisdom than we have ever dreamed is within ourselves.

When we were younger we ran races. At first we were swift and strong. Then we began to gasp for breath. We had a pain in one side. We thought we were finished. And then, sweetly and strangely, came the miracle we call our "second wind" and suddenly we felt as if we could continue to run for hours.

Men who have gone without food for days testify that the first few days are painful indeed. They dream of food and suffer greatly. Then suddenly, they seem to reach a balance; the body seems to decide that if it is to be deprived of food it must try, somehow, to get along without it. And it DOES, for a while, without pain, without complaint.

I remember a time when I went without sleep for nearly three days. It was necessary that I should. The end of the first day was difficult, but I endured. The second day was torture, and there were times when I felt rather light in the head. Coming into the third day I was normal again. I felt as if I had rid myself forever of the need for sleep. I felt happy and strong and greatly alive. Apparently I had struck down into reserves I did not know were mine and was living on them. . . . And when, finally, I was able to sleep again I threw myself at the foot of a tree and slept only my usual eight hours and awakened then fully refreshed.

We come into experiences that seem too great for us to bear. We have endured too much, we think. We have passed the limit of our power to suffer. . . . We "hang on" pass beyond that point and go through a door into a room where everything seems possible to us. Great for us to endure, to conquer. We are all standing at that door, but sometimes we do not know it is there, or we forget that it will open a touch for us. It's a great tragedy for a man to fall when he stands on the solid threshold of the victory he seeks—when he stands at that door and does not open it.

UNDERSTANDING

You can't put a bushel of potatoes into a measure already full of apples, can you?

Of course not, and neither can you build up a good reputation for yourself if you spend your time tearing down the other fellow's front.

You can't be full of evil and do good all the time.

Conversely you can't be of good repute and do wicked, mean things all the time, even if you do try to cover up some of your unwholesome actions.

You can't commit crimes against Nature without bringing the fiery furnace of remorse and regret tumbling after you.

You can't destroy wantonly without being destroyed in the end. You can't help yourself by hurting another.

You can't reap kind consideration for your ideas when you have so little sympathy with ideas that differ from your way of thinking.

Just because you are ignorant of the working of certain principles is no reason why they do not exist and continue to function.

The strongest forces are those one cannot see at a glance. Be sure you have studied well and understand before you condemn.

California Voters Create Expectation Of Party Fight

Garner Of Texas Viewed By Public As Advancing From Position Of Favorite Son To Place Among Dark Horses Of Democratic Organization

The success of Speaker John N. Garner in the California primaries places him among the dark of the Democratic party, the public thinks, giving him a higher position than that of a favorite son. General opinion is that the nomination will be made after a fight in the convention.

"Speaker John Garner is 'sitting pretty' in the opinion of the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM (Ind. Dem.), which believes that "the candidacies of Roosevelt and Smith are running rapidly into an impasse."

"The conclusion that 'there has been a striking absence of popularity behind that of the former, and a state of mind largely charged with hopefulness in the latter.' The HOUSTON CHRONICLE (Dem.) advises that 'the friends of John Garner may now count in his column the 90 votes of California and Texas,' and that, 'with good reason they may add into that column the 43 votes of Oklahoma and Louisiana.' The Chronicle adds that 'around that nucleus a two-thirds vote of the Chicago convention will be built, if the delegates who are to assemble there are to heed and wisely interpret the temper of the people.'

"The endorsement of the speaker," in the opinion of the DALLAS JOURNAL (Ind. Dem.), "puts the Texan very definitely in the running, and concludes that 'there has been an end to the hope of Roosevelt supporters that their candidate would win in the early convention balloting.' The ABILENE REPORTER (Ind. Dem.) feels that 'this year California is to serve as a yardstick by which the outcome of primary skirmishes in other states may be gauged,' and suggests that 'it may steal from Maine its ancient slogan, and we soon hear 'As goes California, so goes the nation.'"

The ATLANTA JOURNAL (Dem.) maintains that "Roosevelt is the candidate having more than factional or regional support." The Journal adds: "Smith, once the major hope of the 'Ston Roosevelt' contingent, has been eliminated as a serious contender. It is reasonably argued, however, that the rank and file of the Garner forces have much to recommend the Roosevelt vice-presidential ticket. However, that may be, the fact remains that Governor Roosevelt is still the one broadly national figure in the Democratic field."

"A merry time is in prospect with McAdoo riding the wet California Democratic broncho," says the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind. Rep.), while the PASADENA STAR-NEWS (Rep.) concludes that "no matter who may be nominated, the contest is sure to leave its deep wounds," and the LONG BEACH SUN (Ind.) states that the California result and the case for some other states "have forced the Roosevelt campaign from high gear into low gear."

The SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD (Rep.) agrees that these results "leave Roosevelt only a fighting chance."

Notwithstanding these opinions the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST (Dem.) offers the comment on present prospects: "Roosevelt will hardly be stopped by a mere spite movement, headed by Al Smith or anybody else. He can be stopped, however, through a general change in public sentiment, and his availability as a candidate and that is probably what the Smith group is counting on. If it can convince the party that Roosevelt will be unable to carry the important Eastern states, as it is seeking to do, Democratic leaders may hesitate to press his nomination and may seek a substitute. Unless this happens, however, and unless the substitute that is put forward appeals to the imagination of the party as a man who can succeed in the election, Gov. Roosevelt will be nominated."

"It doesn't seem at all likely that Mr. Garner, a good and able Democrat, will be nominated," advises the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD (Ind. Dem.), with the further estimate of the strength of candidates: "Roosevelt, as every delegate anxious for a party victory will know, has an enormous popularity following throughout the country. The leaders and the city bosses and the Big Business community may be hostile. But the people are for Roosevelt. And it is the people, in this year of grace and disce, who are going to do the voting and the electing. The delegates will be keenly aware of that. They will be eager to have a candidate who will insure victory in their own respective states. And Roosevelt towers head and shoulders and trunk above the crowd."

"There is now pronounced resistance to the Roosevelt campaign," according to the HARTFORD TIMES (Ind. Dem.) and the CHATTANOOGA TIMES (Dem.) holds that the primary results "give Garner the status of a candidate to be reckoned with." The MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) thinks that Governor Roosevelt's campaign "loses its hand-wagon character. The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) sees a serious blow to Governor Roosevelt's prospects," and the LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.) sees prospects of a dark horse, with the possibility that "if an outsider is named, it may be Garner." The BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD (Dem.) suggests that "the power disclosed by Garner is something which may turn out to be a mortal blow to Roosevelt's presidential ambitions."

The PROVIDENCE BULLETIN (Ind.) emphasizes the possibility of Prosecutor Convinced Dr. Condon Contacted With "Real" Kidnapers

New Jersey Attorney Gathering Facts And Data From Dr. John Condon

Lindbergh Was Also Convinced That Contact Man Was Acting for Kidnapers

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 14.—"I am convinced that Dr. Condon was in touch with the actual kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby or the representatives of the kidnappers."

Prosecutor Edwin E. Marshall of Mercer county made this important announcement Friday afternoon after he and New Jersey state police had questioned Dr. John F. ("Jasie") Condon, the 72-year-old professor, who acted as intermediary in late March and early April when Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh paid $50,000 ransom for the return of his kidnapped baby, whose decomposed body, with a fractured skull showing it had been murdered, was found late Thursday about five miles from the Lindbergh estate.

Marshall will prosecute the case in the event the police, now engaged in one of the greatest manhunts in American history, succeed in tracking down the slaver of the baby.

Had Night Garment

The police were concentrating on the theory that the man whom Condon dealt with was the kidnaper—perhaps the slayer. The light woolen sleeping garment the baby was wearing on the night of March 1 when he was abducted was not on the body when it was found yesterday.

"I questioned Dr. Condon Thursday night for 50 minutes as he rode in an automobile from Princeton to Hopewell," said Prosecutor Marshall. "And he was questioned again today."

"Condon gave me a clear statement. He also gave me several documents."

"From the statements made by Condon I am convinced that he was in touch with the actual kidnaper or the representative of the kidnappers. I shall check all the documents he gave me."

Condon's first contact was made in New York with a man purporting to represent the kidnappers. The man turned over to him two pins from a baby's diaper. The pins were shown to Colonel Lindbergh by Condon and Lindbergh thought they corresponded to the pins used in the clothing of his missing son.

Paid Out $50,000

Moreover, the "contact man" produced a nightgown which Lindbergh thought, after examining it, was the garment worn by the baby the night it was kidnapped. This evidence prompted Lindbergh to turn over the $50,000 to Condon, who tossed it over a cemetery gate in New York City to some individual.

That individual is badly wanted by the police, who are striving to the utmost to run down the killer.

"I have no tangible evidence as yet upon which to ask a murder indictment," said Prosecutor Marshall.

New Bedford Outing Draws Crowds Of Local Folks; Honor Cartwright

A very well attended meeting of the north district of the Scout Leaders' Club was held last night at New Bedford. Irwin Ropp, his wife and daughters, proved themselves most capable hosts, and the large group of Scout troop leaders and their wives enjoyed themselves immensely.

Before the formal meeting program was started a number of the men tried out the ancient game of barnyard golf, and when the horse-shoes hit the pins it was found that the pins budged nearly a bit. On being questioned Ropp admitted that the "pins" were Ford axles, with the wheels attached, the wheels embedded in concrete, and the end of the axle forming the pin. It is safe to say that those who last some time.

Sid Smith, as outgoing president, opened the meeting and Dr. T. J. McFate offered prayer. The matters from the last meeting were speedily handled and then the new officers were installed. Gordon Cartwright, as president, was invested with a Sioux chief's war bonnet; Dr. R. C. Lutz, as vice president, got a stout hickory bludgeon to back up the president, and Ray Ziegler, as scribe, received a flashlight symbolizing the light of knowledge. All officials responded appropriately.

Matters pertaining to the troop activities were discussed for a short time, a field meet in September, the camping jamboree in June (the 7th and 8th) and the coming camp season from July 2 to 30. After the formal business session was over the leaders and their wives got together around the fire and held a wienner roast, with Mr. Ropp and his family serving coffee.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

George Washington
No. 78. The Adoption Of The Constitution

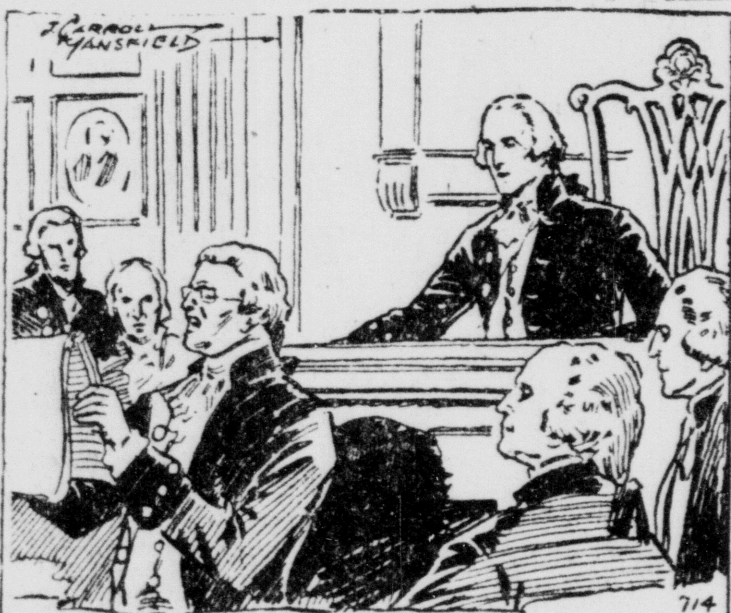

AFTER RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE CONTINENTAL ARMY WASHINGTON RETIRED TO MT. VERNON, FIRMLY RESOLVED TO RENOUNCE PUBLIC LIFE FOREVER. BUT HIS RETIREMENT PROVED TO BE ONLY TEMPORARY. THINGS WERE NOT RUNNING SMOOTHLY WITH THE YOUNG REPUBLIC. THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION, ADOPTED IN 1777, WERE ONLY A LOOSE WORKING ARRANGEMENT BETWEEN THE STATES. WASHINGTON SAW THAT A STRONG, EFFICIENT CENTRAL GOVERNMENT WAS VITALLY ESSENTIAL.

IN A CIRCULAR LETTER TO THE GOVERNORS OF THE STATES WASHINGTON POINTED OUT THE URGENT NECESSITY OF REVISING THE ARTICLES AND ENLARGING THE POWERS OF CONGRESS. IN THE SPRING OF 1787 A CONVENTION WAS HELD IN PHILADELPHIA TO REVISE THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION.

IN SPITE OF HIS RESOLVE NOT TO EMBARK AGAIN UPON PUBLIC LIFE, WASHINGTON WAS APPOINTED A DELEGATE FROM VIRGINIA AND WHEN THE CONVENTION OPENED WAS CHOSEN FOR PRESIDING OFFICER.

AFTER FOUR MONTHS OF DELIBERATION MARKED BY HEATED DEBATES THE CONVENTION PRODUCED A NEW FRAME OF GOVERNMENT, THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, WHICH WAS ADOPTED ON SEPTEMBER 17, 1787.

New Jersey Farmer Thinks Baby Placed In Woodland Lately

Robert Buffet Owns Land
Upon Where Lindbergh
Baby Was Found Dead

Thinks Kidnapers Placed
Body There Recently;
Didn't Notice Buzzards

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HOPWELL, N. J., May 14.—The body of the Lindbergh baby might have been placed under the old oak tree on the Mount Hope-Princeton road within the last few weeks, in the opinion of Robert Buffet, a farmer who lives nearest the spot where the skeleton was found.

For Buffet, who has been confined to his house with asthma, thinks it is mighty strange no buzzards circled over the spot during the two and a half months since the baby vanished.

Hasn't Seen Buzzards
"I have been wondering about not having seen any buzzards," the farmer said, sitting hunched close to his coal stove while cars stopped in front of his gray farmhouse to spy curiosity seekers on to the fringe of the property.

"Usually, when a dead cat or dog is lying around, they fly 'round and 'round and call your attention to it," Buffet plainly was puzzled.

"You see," he confided, "two weeks after the crime was committed the state troopers came, went through my house and all over the place. I have thirty acres and they say the spot where the body was located was on the edge of my land. I don't know myself. I haven't been well enough to walk down to look. I do know that where the flares were last night was right near where the cops and plenty of people have been since March 1."

Picked Wildflowers
As a matter of fact, Buffet's housekeeper, Mrs. Lillian Larue, went down to the very place with a neighbor to pick wildflowers several times, and saw nothing.

This does not mean it was not there, Buffet admitted, for the underbrush is quite thick and now that the trees are in leaf it is hard to see more than 10 yards ahead.

But police who finally lifted the body from beneath its mound of leaves and stones said it was in such a bad state of decomposition it could not have been overlooked.

"It could have been put there lately," said Buffet. "No one would see them do it at night. And you certainly would think someone would have discovered it before now, if it had been there all along."

Red Cross Board Holds Meeting

Reports On A Number Of Activities Are Given At Session Friday Afternoon

Members of the executive committee of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, held their monthly meeting in the chapter rooms Friday afternoon.

Reports were submitted on the recent first aid class which was conducted by the chapter under the direction of R. F. Davis, chairman of first aid work, showing an excellent attendance and a high average for the class.

Reports were made on the flour distribution by Secretary Potter. He stated that the shipment received this week of 28,000 sacks will last the chapter until the first of July, and that requisition will be made for additional flour next month.

Secretary Potter also reported on the garden and seed activities.

Mrs. William Cosel gave a report on the nursing class being conducted at New Wilmington.

Six Naked Dancers Killed By Officers In Underground Cave

Twenty Others Wounded As Police Break Up Revelry By Naked Men And Women

(International News Service)
VIENNA, May 14.—Six persons were killed and 20 seriously wounded when police broke up a weird revelry by naked men and women in an underground cavern at Petruio in Bessarabia today, according to messages from Bucharest.

The shootings occurred when police officers discovered more than 100 members of a cult known as "The Innocents" engaged in a Bacchanalian dance in the cave, the messages said.

When they refused to abandon their orgy, police opened fire, the reports declared. Even when 26 of their number fell to the ground, the cultists refused to surrender and battled police with whatever weapons they could find.

The dispatches reported the scene of the incident as a modern "Aladdin's cave." It's walls were gilded and decked with jeweled ikons. The cave was discovered 30 feet underground.

Assail Police In Lindbergh Probe

Senator And Detective Say Schwarzkopf And Aids Are Incompetent

TRENTON, N. J., May 14.—Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, was criticized today for his handling of the Lindbergh case by John Ferguson, head of the County Detectives' Association of New Jersey, and State Senator Emerson L. Richards, Republican majority leader.

Senator Richards indicated he would demand a legislative investigation of Col. Schwarzkopf's handling of the kidnapping. A $1,000,000 state police appropriation will be before the Legislature soon. Ferguson said Gov. A. Harry Moore would be asked to dismiss Schwarzkopf.

"Col. Schwarzkopf is incompetent," said Ellis Parker, detective of Burlington County. "He and his men lack experience in criminal investigation. If they had searched properly, they would have found that baby's body 72 days ago."

Before Col. Schwarzkopf was appointed by Gov. Moore, he had been superintendent of deliveries for a Newark store. Maj. Charles A. Schoeffel, his assistant, who toured Europe with a copy of the ransom note, sold extortions in Camden before he was appointed to the state police force.

Senator Richards some weeks ago had suggested that national guardsmen, Boy Scouts and others be drafted for an intensive search of the role countryside around the Lindbergh home—a suggestion that was not adopted.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

What a whale of a difference a few cents make. With apologies to the cigarette ad. for the paraphrase. Reasons for it is the transformation that has been completed on East Washington street on the site where the old cemetery used to be.

A group of city employees have been busy the past few days cutting back that ugly bank and today it is a gracefully sloping terrace. A little grass seed and what was once an ugly spot will be a beauty spot.

It was once thought that Cunningham avenue should be brought through to East Washington by way of Superior street and through this plot. The city purchased the old cemetery site and that was the last heard of the idea. Until they do bring it through the improvement on the spot fronting East Washington street is a help.

You can find most any trade or profession listed among railroad men. Met a road man yesterday who was one time a secretary to a congressman from the middle west. Apparently concluded there was more peace of mind shifting box cars than there was in getting free seeds for constituents.

In his present job he takes orders only from the yardmaster. In his former job he took orders from a hundred thousand people whenever they decided to issue them.

The robins who went housekeeping on the top of the front porch pillar now have the family doing a little flying on their own. One of the new robins managed to get around to the cherry tree in the backyard yesterday afternoon and then spent an hour yelling for his mother to come and get him.

Odd looking creatures, young robins, just learning to fly. They appear to be as large as a full grown robin, but instead of a red breast they have a brownish mottled effect and the continuous feeding worms has them looking like pouter pigeons.

Other birds have been hearing of the free lunch put out by the gardening process. This morning a cardinal, saucy and chipper looking came over to look over the ground and if he gets the right inducements he may stay.

The traction company is adding its bit to the leveling of East Washington street. A gang of men has been engaged for two days lifting bricks in the depressions between the car tracks and by Memorial Day you may be able to drive out the street without getting seasick.

Crippled Clarence Ferree Fund About Reaches Its Goal

A Few More Dollars From The Good People Of The City Will Put It Over

Goal of Crippled Clarence Ferree, City Building corner salesman of newspapers and magazines, the baths of Mt. Clemens, Mich., which he believes will benefit him greatly, is all but reached, through the kindness and generosity of the people of this city.

Last report from the bank, where Clarence has been putting the money given him for this purpose, was to the effect that there was something over $180 on hand. The goal set for the fund was $200.

One more little effort on the part of the kind people of this city and Clarence will get his chance at Mt. Clemens, Mich., and with the fund almost over he is now actually counting the hours until he is there, getting his opportunity at possible improved health.

Any amount will be acceptable to Clarence, who hopes with the money realized to spend at least five weeks and possibly a little longer at Mt. Clemens. The money should be given to him.

Treatment Suggested For "Itch"

Prevention More Important Than Cure In Skin Eruption

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Barber's itch is a name frequently given to any eruption on the hairy or bearded region of the face. Thus a good many diseases, differing in nature, are included in the group.

The two commonest forms are called "syphilis vulgaris" and "timea barbae." The first is due simply to pus infection in the hair follicles and the second to infection with a form of vegetable parasite commonly called "ringworm."

They differ from each other in that the ringworm form tends to invade the skin of the neck and lower jaw and seldom involves the upper lip. It is also more acute in onset and its duration shorter. The pus-forming invasion of the beard may occur all over, is much more stubborn, although milder, and may last indefinitely. The final differential diagnosis is to be made by an expert who can demonstrate the presence or absence of the ringworm fungus on a hair pulled out from the region involved.

Prevention is more important than cure, and while it is true that most cases of the ringworm variety are caught in barber shops, either kind can be produced by a man who shaves himself if he does it with a dirty razor. The introduction of safety razors has done much to cut down the incidence of barber's itch, first because the safety razor is once (at the beginning, when wrapped by the manufacturer) almost surgically clean and, second, because it is not used indefinitely and seldom is used by more than one shaver. The old-fashioned razor used to be borrowed by a succession of visiting friends and all kinds of things were passed around in this way.

In treatment the variety of barber's itch due to pus-forming organisms may be easy to cure or one of the hardest diseases to eradicate. No attempt should be made to shave while the infection is present, and the hairs which have their follicles badly infected should be pulled out with forceps. Soap and water should be avoided, the skin cleansed with mineral oil. Antiseptic ointments, such as ammoniated mercuric, are frequently sufficient to effect a complete cure. If the case becomes chronic or stubborn the X-ray is the best method of treatment.

The ringworm variety is often treated by a peculiar modern method—a combination of X-ray and a drug, thallium acetate, by mouth. The dosage of thallium must be very accurate and based on the patient's weight, because in larger doses it is poisonous. Its action is to make the hair fall out so that the X-ray can penetrate into the affected area. The hair grows in again in about four weeks.

Preakness Race Is Tame Affair

No Outstanding Horses Will Gallop In Famous Race At Pimlico Track

TURF CLASSIC OF MARYLAND

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—Preakness day at old and rambling Pimlico. But all's serene in town.

No flags, no bunting, no hysteria, no hi-jacking by hotels, cafes or taxi companies, no exalted admission fees.

No whirling crowds attempting to tackle plays or flying wedges.

Everything is polite and trim.

The Preakness is Maryland's turf classic but it doesn't agitate the home-bred or create jitters as does the derby in Louisville.

Just another horse race.

And today they are calling it "the hat pin parade."

They mean by this that the field of 10 or 12 which will meander to the post at about 4:40 eastern time, is so evenly matched in the matter of Preakness mediocrity that you can toss away the form chart, excavate a hat pin from the catacombs of the gaudy 90's, close your starry eyes, take a poke and presto, you have played the name of a giddy-up which has as much chance for victory as any of his classmates.

How About Field?

And who's who?

Marmion—on the rail.

Curacao—in second position.

Down here there's an old superstition that the winner of the Preakness must start from first or second position. They can flaunt records to bolster the idea.

But this year, precedent—or what is—seems destined to be belied in the glue works.

Marmion always has travelled with vulgarism and rarely could beat them. Curacao was third in the Wood Memorial, a dismal last in the most recent outing and only so as a two-year-old.

Boatswain—never ran until this spring. First out was second. Won the next two and then 11th, 20 lengths back of Evening, Stephenfeth, Overtime and others.

War Hero—a ne'er do well.

Tick On Nervous.

Tick On—plenty of bad, bad luck in the derby. Can better that race plenty. But a wild scrobbled at the post and it's about even money that he'll be doing a dip schottische, or imitating Gilda Gray, or beating a tambourine when the barrier flips skyward.

Mad Pursuit—perhaps the class horse of the race, can't run on a slow track. Moody and a sulker. Gets wiggles with a nervous horse alongside—and he will be between Tick On and Burgoo King.

"If it's dry and he isn't bumped in the getaway, he has a good chance," says Earl Sande, who will ride.

Burgoo King—erratic and apparently over-raced. Should get some portion of the swag, but not the chief prize.

Gusto—blow away.

Lucky Tom—the sleeper. Wet track or dry—yet preferred. If he's somewhere with the leaders after the second turn, he will be as dangerous as a stick of dynamite tossed into a blazing fire box.

Rosa Bonheur, French artist, was considered the most eminent woman painter of animals.

Guy Bush Pitches And Slugs Chicago Cubs Into 5 To 3 Victory Over Braves

WALLY GILBERT HAS BAD DAY

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 14.—Brooklyn had a marked edge over Cincinnati today in the battle of former Dodgers and former Reds, now being waged as an interesting sideshow of the first series of the year between the two clubs. Wally Gilbert has been a total loss to the Reds in this series. He made a costly error yesterday after two were out, paving the way for two Brooklyn runs as the Dodgers won, 5 to 3, behind Davey Vance's pitching.

Pitcher Guy Bush of the Cubs doubled in the ninth to win his own game from Boston, 3 to 2, and stretch Chicago's lead over the Braves to three games again. Tom Zachary, the Boston hurler, was enjoying a 2 to 1 lead over the Bruins when the final fireworks, which consisted of singles by Moore, Stephenson, Grimm and Jorges and Bush's double.

Washington's Senators chalked up their fourth straight win and General Alvir Crowder recorded his sixth victory of the season in whitewashing Detroit, 7 to 0.

Jimmy Fox, leading the hitters of both leagues, got four safe wallops as the Athletics slaughtered the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 4.

The Phillies got off to a 5 to 0 lead on the Cards, but finally blew the decision in the tenth, 8 to 7, on an error by Catcher Todd.

The remaining three scheduled games were washed out.

Ernie Schaaf Wins Decision

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 14.—Ernie Schaaf got lost in a storm of south-paw pokes in Madison Square Garden last night and came out of the portside twister just in time to nose out a victory over Jack Gross of Philadelphia.

Schaaf made a savage finish in the last two rounds, especially in the final period, and this round probably gave Ernie the big edge with the jury.

"The Land of Cakes" is a title applied to Scotland, on account of the baps, scones and oatmeal cakes which, with porridge, form the principal food of the country people.

Eintracht Club Banquets Floor Team Members

Members of the Eintracht varsity and reserve basketball teams were banqueted last night at the Eintracht club. The toastmaster was Fred Weinschenk and the principal spokesman A. J. J. Lamoree. Officials of the club said the Eintracht would have a team next year and indications are the varsity will enter the National Saxon league.

Following a sumptuous repast, Joseph Eve, Sr., president of the society, famed for his singing, told the banqueters the purpose of the gathering, praised the team and leaders and then introduced the toastmaster, Fred Weinschenk, manager of the team, who was aided in those duties by Martin Castner.

Weinschenk expressed his appreciation of the players' cooperation and each was introduced and made brief remarks. They were Paulini (also coach), Hill, Rowe, Knech, Rohrer, Reiter and Reiber, and the assistant manager, Castner. Members of the reserve team also were introduced.

May Join Saxon League.

John Unger, Joseph Eve, Sr., and John Schuler aided the team and asked for continued support of basketball next season, after which Attorney Jack Lamoree delivered an appropriate talk, in which he recited the progress the team made during its first season.

Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, and Professor Nishwitz of the Eintracht Singers, spoke briefly after which the Singers entertained with several numbers as did the junior quartet. Mr. Clark, Joseph Eve, Jr., and several other members made brief remarks.

John Lienert, who is a member of the Saxon society, spoke and said that the Eintracht members fully appreciated what the basketball team had accomplished and said he hoped to see the quintet in the National Saxon league next season.

Adolf Lang, one of the guests of honor, was held for the last spoken man and special mention was made by the toastmaster of the aid that not only had Mrs. Adolph Lang had given the team during the past season.

Mr. Lang was called upon and in a few well chosen words expressed himself as pleased with the progress of the team and the spirit of sportsmanship they had displayed and promised to continue to help the team next year.

St. Andrew's Tops Cunningham A. C.

St. Andrews church mushball team handed the Cunningham A. C. a 30 to 15 setback last night in the opening game of the mushball season at Gaston Park. T. Evans on the hill for the St. Andrews team allowed eleven hits but kept them scattered. L. Ostrosky, J. Gregor and A. Laurel had home runs to feature the game. A. Motoko and Caughlin pitched for the Cunningham A. C. and were found for 25 hits by the St. Andrews team, with Evans, Avers, Allsopp, and Gregor doing a lot of heavy clubbing.

The score by innings:

Cunningham 220 055 100-15

U. S. STEEL MEETS WITH SUPPORT

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 14.—Stock prices were driven to new bear market lows today in an outburst of fresh liquidation.

Utilities and rails went to new lows. Consolidated Gas and American Telephone were especially heavily sold.

Other leading issues to break to new lows included Eastman Kodak, Western Union, International Nickel and Macy. Woolworth was driven down nearly 1 point to a new low in a deluge of selling. U. S. Steel met support as it approached its low.

Standard Oil of New Jersey was reactionary following its report showing earnings of only 33 cents for 1931. Oils were comparatively steady, however.

A general decline in bonds added fresh unsettlement in speculative circles. Commodities were lower, led by Wheat and Cotton.

State Officials Puff Themselves In Smull's Book

Longest Autobiography Is That Of Governor Pinchot In This Year's Book

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 14.—Circulation of each new edition of the Pennsylvania Manual, formerly Smull's Handbook, gives to capitol observers an opportunity to learn just how elective officers and members of the cabinet rate themselves. Each may write his own biography. The 1931 edition of the Manual recently left the press.

The longest autobiography is that by Gov. Gifford Pinchot, although William D. Gordon, Secretary of Banking, was a close second by listing of technical magazines in which he has had articles appear.

The distinction of writing the shortest story about himself continued in this issue, as in former ones, to General Edward Marston, State Treasurer. General Marston used just fifty words to tell of his participation in two wars, election to the state's two fiscal offices and of his political activity.

Stephen Stahlmecker, the governor's secretary in both administrations, used only 25 more words than General Marston in writing his life history.

While the majority of those who have long been active in political life were able to compress their life stories into small spaces, some others went far afield in listing important events.

Dr. A. M. Northrup, Secretary of Labor and Industry, lists the fact that he "has had the unique experience of riding the log rafts from Lock Haven to Northumberland." Dr. Northrup is interested in the lumber business.

As a man who specializes in patriotic speeches, Philip H. Dewey, Secretary of Internal Affairs, an elective office, traces his ancestry back to the French Kings and ties it in with the early Puritans. Of his ancestral background the secretary wrote:

"His parents were both of New England stock, direct descendants of William Bradford, governor of the Plymouth Colony. He is also descendant of Robert Bruce of Scotland and King Henry I of France."

Ernest E. Harwood who became a member of the game commission after five of its members had resigned in a body has, apparently, little doubt of his own fitness to serve as executive secretary.

"As a result of his wide knowledge as a conservationist and protectionist, he was appointed a member of the board of game commissioners," the Harwood biographical sketch says.

Veteran Attorney Takes No

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Although pale and shaken after a day and night of seasickness, Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, Friday came back from Honolulu well pleased with the outcome of the Fortson-Massie murder case which he defended.

The strain of the long trial taxed his strength to the utmost and it was evident that he was not yet fully recovered from it.

"I didn't win this case; the newspapers won it," he declared; "everybody and sympathy extended us during the illness and death of our brother, Frank Geiger. Also for floral tributes and cars donated."

(International News Service)
GLASGOW, May 14.—Members of the family of Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse, were shocked Friday to learn of the discovery of the murdered child's body.

"It is terrible," John Gow, Betty's brother, said. "The Lindberghs have all our sympathies. It must have been a terrible ordeal for them and for Betty too."

"We knew all along that Betty could not possibly have had anything to do with the kidnapping. The idea was ridiculous."

Operation Upon Baby Is Halted

Barrier Of Fear Halts Brain
Operation Upon Elsie
Marie Mushelack

(International News Service)
LEWISTOWN, Pa., May 14.—A barrier of fear Friday definitely halted plans for a delicate operation upon 17-month-old Elsie Marie Mushelack.

That barrier, born of the tremendous odds placed against the child's survival of the ordeal, a mother was unable to surmount.

Attaches of the F. W. Black hospital here, where preparations had been made for the operation to remove an abnormal skull development, said this afternoon that the babe had been removed from the institution by her parents. She was taken to the family home in New Brighton, Staten Island, as far as attendants could learn.

Elsie Marie's father gave his consent to the operation in the slim hope of saving his daughter from idiocy and eventual death, but Mrs. Mushelack refused to accept the odds of more than 1,000 to 1 and Dr. F. W. Black declared he would not undertake the operation without the approval of both parents.

WITH CIRCUS COMING HERE

Wild Animals And Clowns
Galore With Hagenbeck -
Wallace Show

Savage, wild and ferocious animals and laugh-provoking, gloom-chasing clowns are two courses of the appetizing amusement menu which the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will offer the "white top" enthusiasts of New Castle on Thursday, May 26th. The Hagenbeck-Wallace management has arranged a program that for novelty and features is one of the most remarkable ever offered the public.

Vast changes have been made in the personnel and also the performance, and European agents have sent the best of Continental features for the 1932 tour. Action predominates in every ring and stage and there is not a dull moment from the grand, glittering opening spectacle, "Cleopatra Queen of Egypt" to the thrilling chariot races, which serve as the finale.

Special attention was also given to the clown numbers by Earl Shipley, famous producer of comedy stunts, who promises a laughing-fest on circus day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gates, Mrs. Benz Mook and Mrs. Carson Hutson from Polk were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cole, Wednesday. John Gibson spent Monday in Ohio where he purchased a truck load of fine horses.

Miss Miriam Greenlee of Clarion spent the week-end with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Greenlee. Rosabelle Shaffer is visiting with friends in New Castle.

The Princeton Missionary society will have a business meeting in the home of Mrs. Norman Book, Tuesday evening. The ladies will have their regular meeting all day Thursday with Mrs. Ralph McConnell.

Mrs. Norman Book is confined to her home by illness.

Candidates In Coming
Fall Elections

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 14.—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church formally declared war on wet political candidates Friday.

Meeting in annual session here, the conference voted to send committees to the conventions of each of the major political parties "to insist that no repeal, nullification or referendum plank be inserted in the platforms."

The resolution was introduced by Chester A. Smith of New York, a lay delegate, who remarked that "in spite of propaganda by the wet press and self-seeking politicians, the liquor traffic is still and will be the enemy of manhood, womanhood and of all those great things for which the church stands."

The original resolutions, amended by Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, to enable co-operation between the church and the national board of strategy, was passed by acclamation.

Insane Patient At Warren Hospital Is Clubbed To Death

Inmate Clubs Man To Death
"Just To Put Him Out Of Misery"

(International News Service)
WARREN, Pa., May 14.—Solomon Hainshohn, 32, of Erie, an inmate of the state hospital for the insane at North Warren, was clubbed to death in the men's ward of the main building at the institution Friday by Jerome Masiroff, 20, another patient from Erie.

Police said Masiroff labored under the impression his victim "wished to be placed out of misery."

When found, Hainshohn's hands were bound behind his back and his head badly battered by the arm of a rocking chair, which was used as a club.

Masiroff was transferred to the ward for the criminally insane by the district attorney and coroner.

Catholic World Is In Sympathy With Lindbergh's

Semi-Official Vatican Organ
Sends Condolences To
Col. Lindbergh

(International News Service)
ROME, May 14.—Sympathy of the "entire Catholic world" with Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh was expressed Friday by Observatore Romano, semi-official Vatican organ.

"It is to be hoped," the newspaper said, "that this will induce the United States to make every effort to eradicate the venomous plant of gangdom. If the tragedy results in the uprooting of all bandits, especially kidnappers, perhaps Col. Lindbergh may find in this some comfort in his immense grief."

Then the brave volunteers willing to risk their health for the advancement of science offered themselves as subjects for the experiment. Drops of the matter were put into their noses, and just as colds start when sneezers spray droplets into other folks' nostrils, so these volunteers developed colds.

Dr. Dochez said that in many investigations of infectious diseases.

Modified Hoover Program Scanned By Committeemen

Democratic Senators Draft
Compromise Plan With President Hoover

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 14.—A modified Hoover unemployment relief program, including a government bond issue to pay the cost of federal road and building projects, was considered Friday by the special committee of Democratic Senators named to draft a compromise plan with the President.

The bond issue idea will be written into the Democratic counter proposal from the Wagner unemployment relief bill.

The Democrats were virtually in accord with the President on direct loans to the states for feeding the hungry, and loans to states or private industry on self-liquidating projects. They planned to insist however, on inclusion of federal projects, to be paid by a bond issue, a proposal which Mr. Hoover directly repudiated.

The whole program undoubtedly will be limited to the $1,500,000,000 proposed by the President.

The Democrats agreed with the President that state loans to relieve human distress and all loans on self-liquidating projects should be handled through the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Immunity From Colds Is Sought

Successful Experiments Show
How Common Colds Are Now Communicated

By JENE MYERS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—Man has succeeded in implanting the common communicable cold in human volunteers and in chimpanzees by dropping into their noses cultures of a filterable virus taken from sufferers of such colds.

Announcement of the successful efforts came from Dr. Alphonse R. Dochez, professor of medicine, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, before the American Association of Immunologists here recently.

Many different micro-organisms have been suspected of being responsible for the common communicable cold. Dr. Dochez declared. He explained to the audience how he took secretions from the noses and throats of sufferers from such colds, passed them through a filter so fine that it filters out all bacteria, and obtained an infectious organism which could not possibly be anything except a filterable virus.

Then the brave volunteers willing to risk their health for the advancement of science offered themselves as subjects for the experiment. Drops of the matter were put into their noses, and just as colds start when sneezers spray droplets into other folks' nostrils, so these volunteers developed colds.

Dr. Dochez said that in many investigations of infectious diseases.

mice and guinea pigs can be used for experiments. Thus far, however, only that not-distant relative of mankind, the chimpanzee, has been proved susceptible to the common communicable cold.

Drops were put into the noses of chimpanzees, which in due time began to have moist noses, watering eyes, sneezes, and other marks of the commonest and yet most baffling of human ailments.

No way yet has been found to immunize mankind against such colds, Dr. Dochez stated.

Now that he has won success in his investigation of the common communicable cold, Dr. Dochez said he is intensifying his endeavors to work out a method of successful immunization.
